Pisa, April 14.

L E T T E R S from Turin say, that that Court begins to think of a second Wife for the Prince of Piedmont, and that some late News taken there seem to prognosticate a War, at least they give to understand that the Court will not be unprovided in case of Need. The great Duke's Gallies are to go out next Week, and are reported at Leghorn, that the Turks begin to renew their Efforts towards undertaking something in these Seas; upon which both Malta and Sicily continue alarmed. It is certain, however, that the Grand Master has summoned 200 Knights, besides those already sent for. The Florentines are very desirous that the Grand Prince would return hither and take on him the Management of Affairs; nevertheless, he is hourly expected here on his Way to Leghorn.

Copenhagen, May 2. The Court of Commissioners established for the Trial of Major General Coyer, assembled the 27th inst at the House of the Governor of the Citadel, where the Major General's Answer was opened and read, as likewise the Charge exhibited against him by the King's Attorney General; but the Major General's Answer consisted chiefly in artificial Evasions, equivocal and frivolous Excuses, alledging amongst other Things, that he could not acknowledge the Attorney General's Power of trying him, neither could he be persuaded that he had done any thing besides adhering to the Interest of his Master the Czar, conform to his Duty and Oath, &c. He was told, that what he had said, did not come up to the Matter at present in Question, and that he was required to give a plain Answer to the several Articles laid to his Charge. Besides that it is well known he is not in the Czar's Service, neither can he evince his being so, nor produce any Person to verify it. He then, but supposing that he was, that could not authorize him to form and engage himself in a Conspiracy to ruin this Kingdom, especially whilst he continued in the King's Dominions, even in the City of His Majesty's Residence; and therefore, he had only this Week more allowed him to reply to the Facts laid to his Charge, and to prepare for Death, unless his Majesty's extraordinary Grace should otherwise direct. Upon this, he was carried back to Prison. It is expected that his final Answer will be delivered this Day, and that the Court will denounce his Sentence.

Hambourg, May 7. Letters from Peterbourgh relate, that M. Hesper, the Duke of Holstein's Privy-Counsellour, is lately dead there. Altho' the Czar had given positive Orders to his whole Fleet to be ready to put to Sea, 'tis for all that very much doubted whether it can be done so soon as he had designed, because most of the experienced Seamen and Pilots that were to come from foreign Countries, who only are capable of governing Ships in the Baltic, are not yet arrived. The Crews that are already on board the Czar's

Ships are said to be for the most part, but indifferently Navigators. The Czar and his Court still continue at Riga, and 'tis not yet heard when he intends to leave that Place. The last Post from Copenhagen makes no Mention as to the direct Time of his Danish Majesty's Departure for Holstein. Major General Coyer's Affair continues in a bad Way with Respect to himself; he now does Nothing but sue for Mercy, and 'tis almost believed he will obtain it so far as to be kept in perpetual Imprisonment. The Danish Fleet is very much more entirely fitted out, and ready to put to Sea.

May 8. We have Advice from Madrid, that the Marquess de Mautrevier Langeron left that Court on the 21st of last Month: M. Robin is on his Departure from thence for Madrid, and after some Stay there, is to proceed to the Court of Lisbon. The Benedictines having lately convened a General Chapter of their Order at Marmoures near Tours, the King has sent to them to dissolve the Assembly; his Majesty has likewise sent a Lettre de Cachet to their Head and President Father St. Maestre, commanding him to retire to a Place assigned him. The Countess of Chateauneault, Sister of the Duke de Noailles, is dead. A Declaration is published, by which the King has settled the Rank and Honours of the legitimated Princes in the Parliament of Paris.

Paris, May 12. The Marquess de Mautrevier Langeron being arrived at Court from Madrid, has been received with great Marks of Favour by his most Christian Majesty. The King of Spain gave him at his Departure from Madrid, his Picture set with Diamonds to a very great Value. Letters from Turin of the 3rd Instant, say it was publicly reported there, that a Marriage is concluded between the Prince of Piedmont and the Princess of Rhinels of the Family of Hesse-Cassel.
